

Modular move to (best) fit

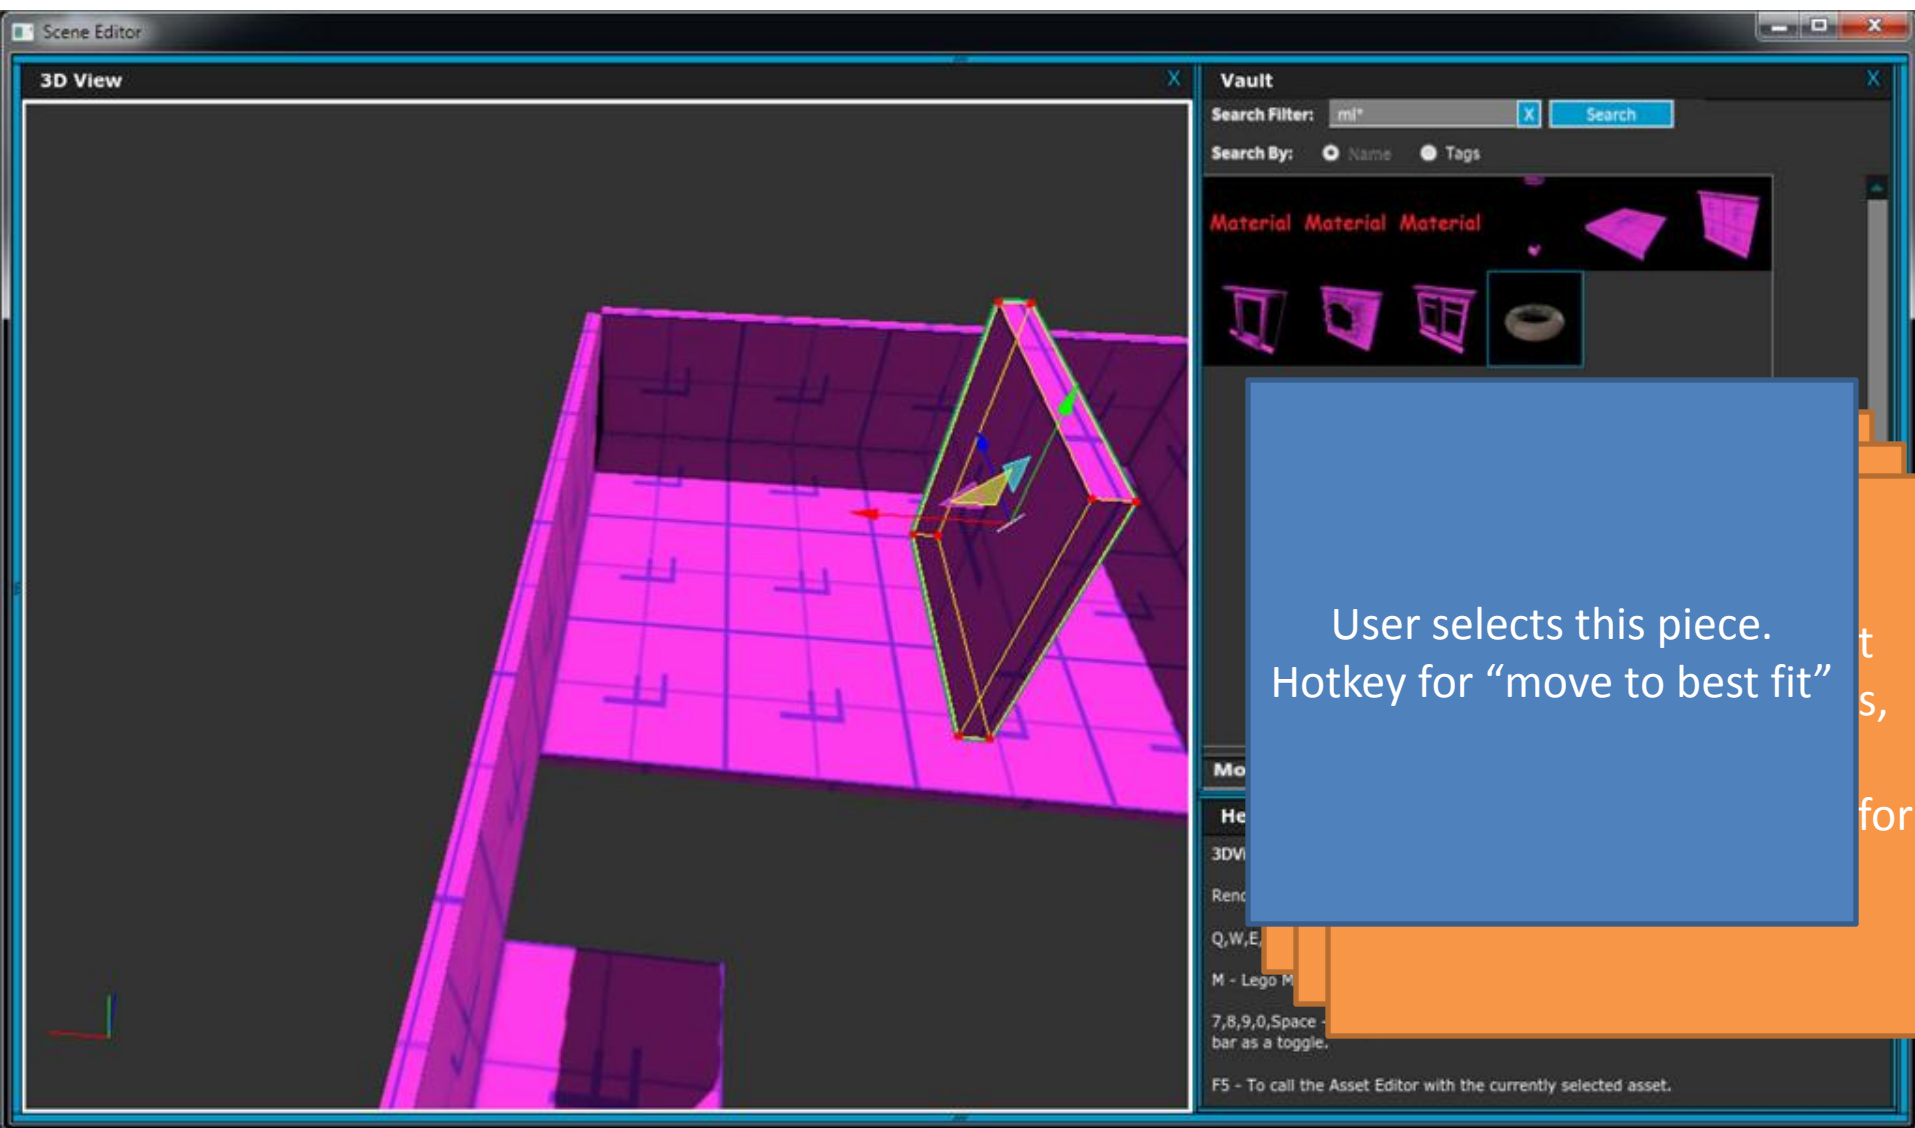

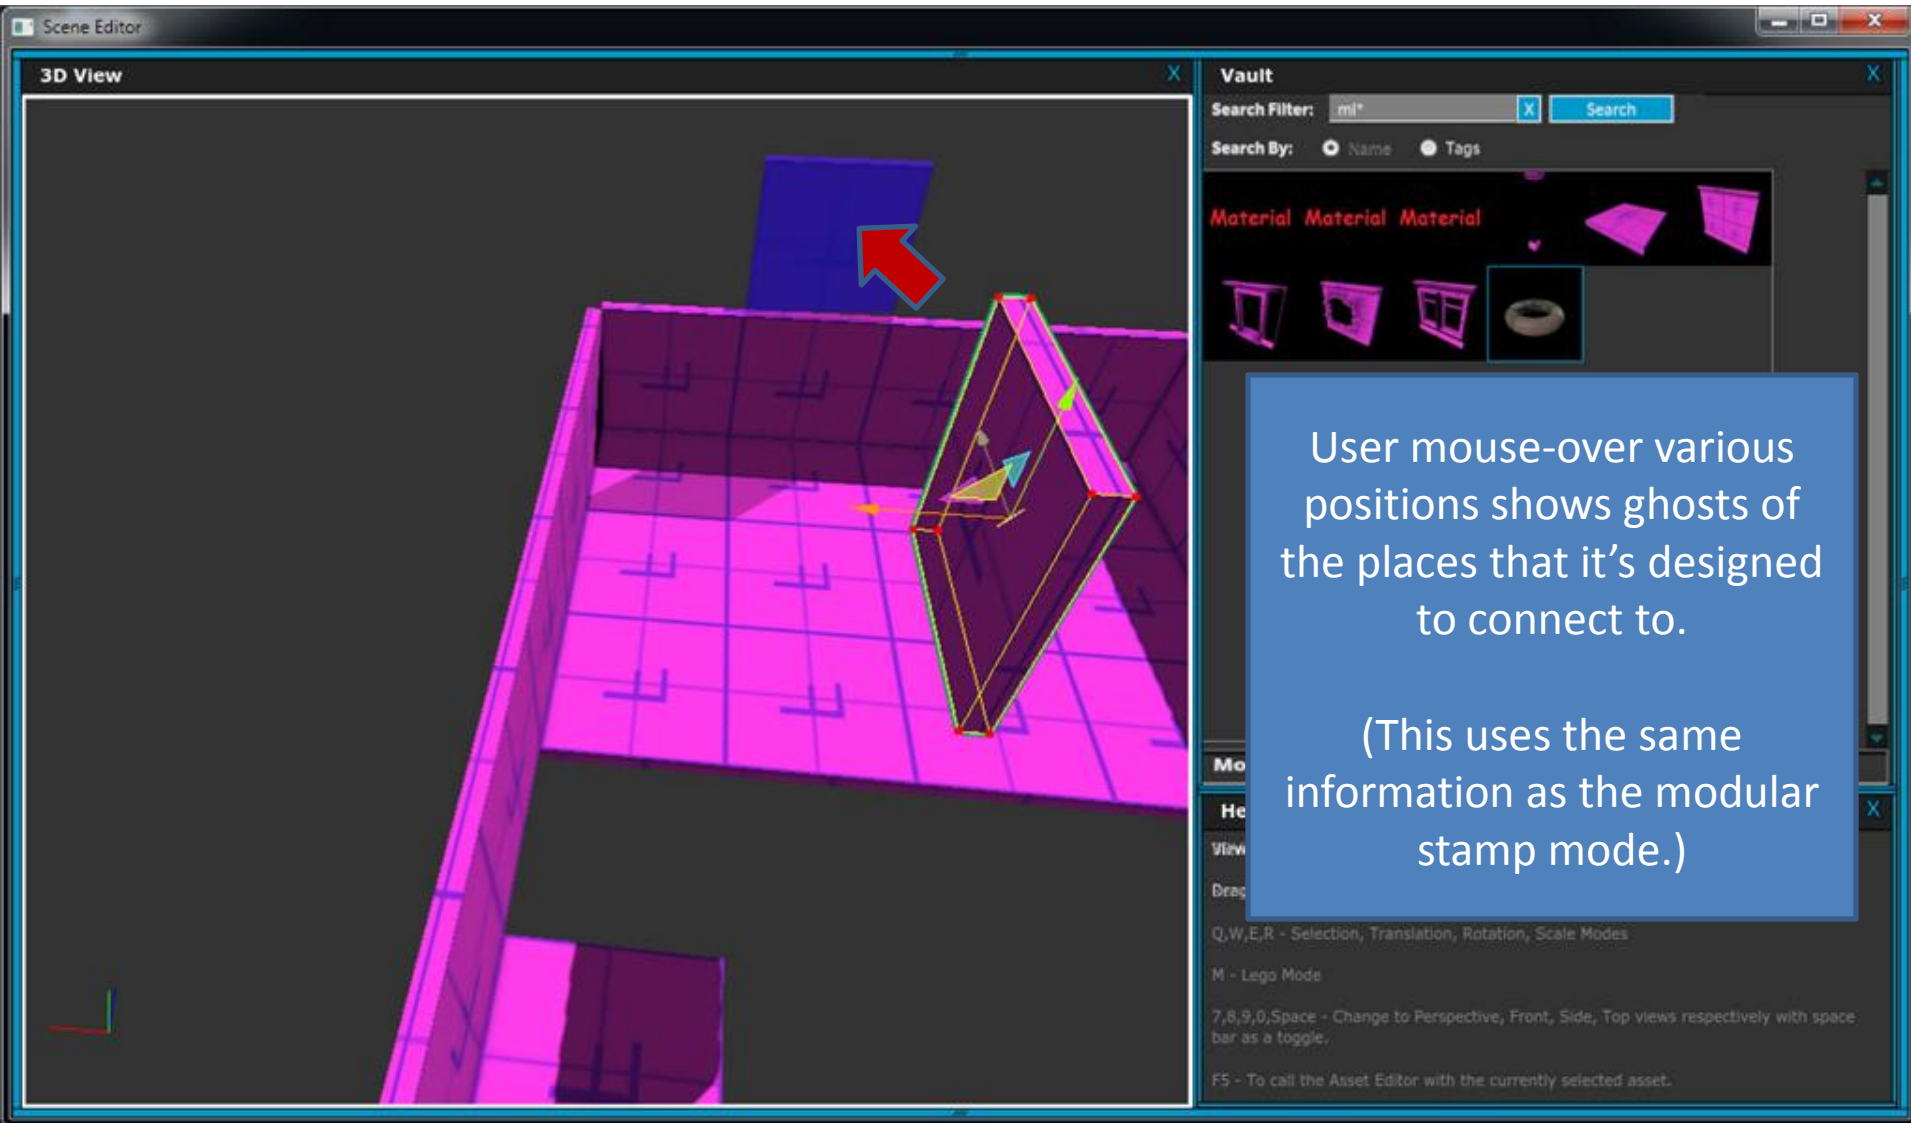

But really, the user knows exactly where they want it to go.

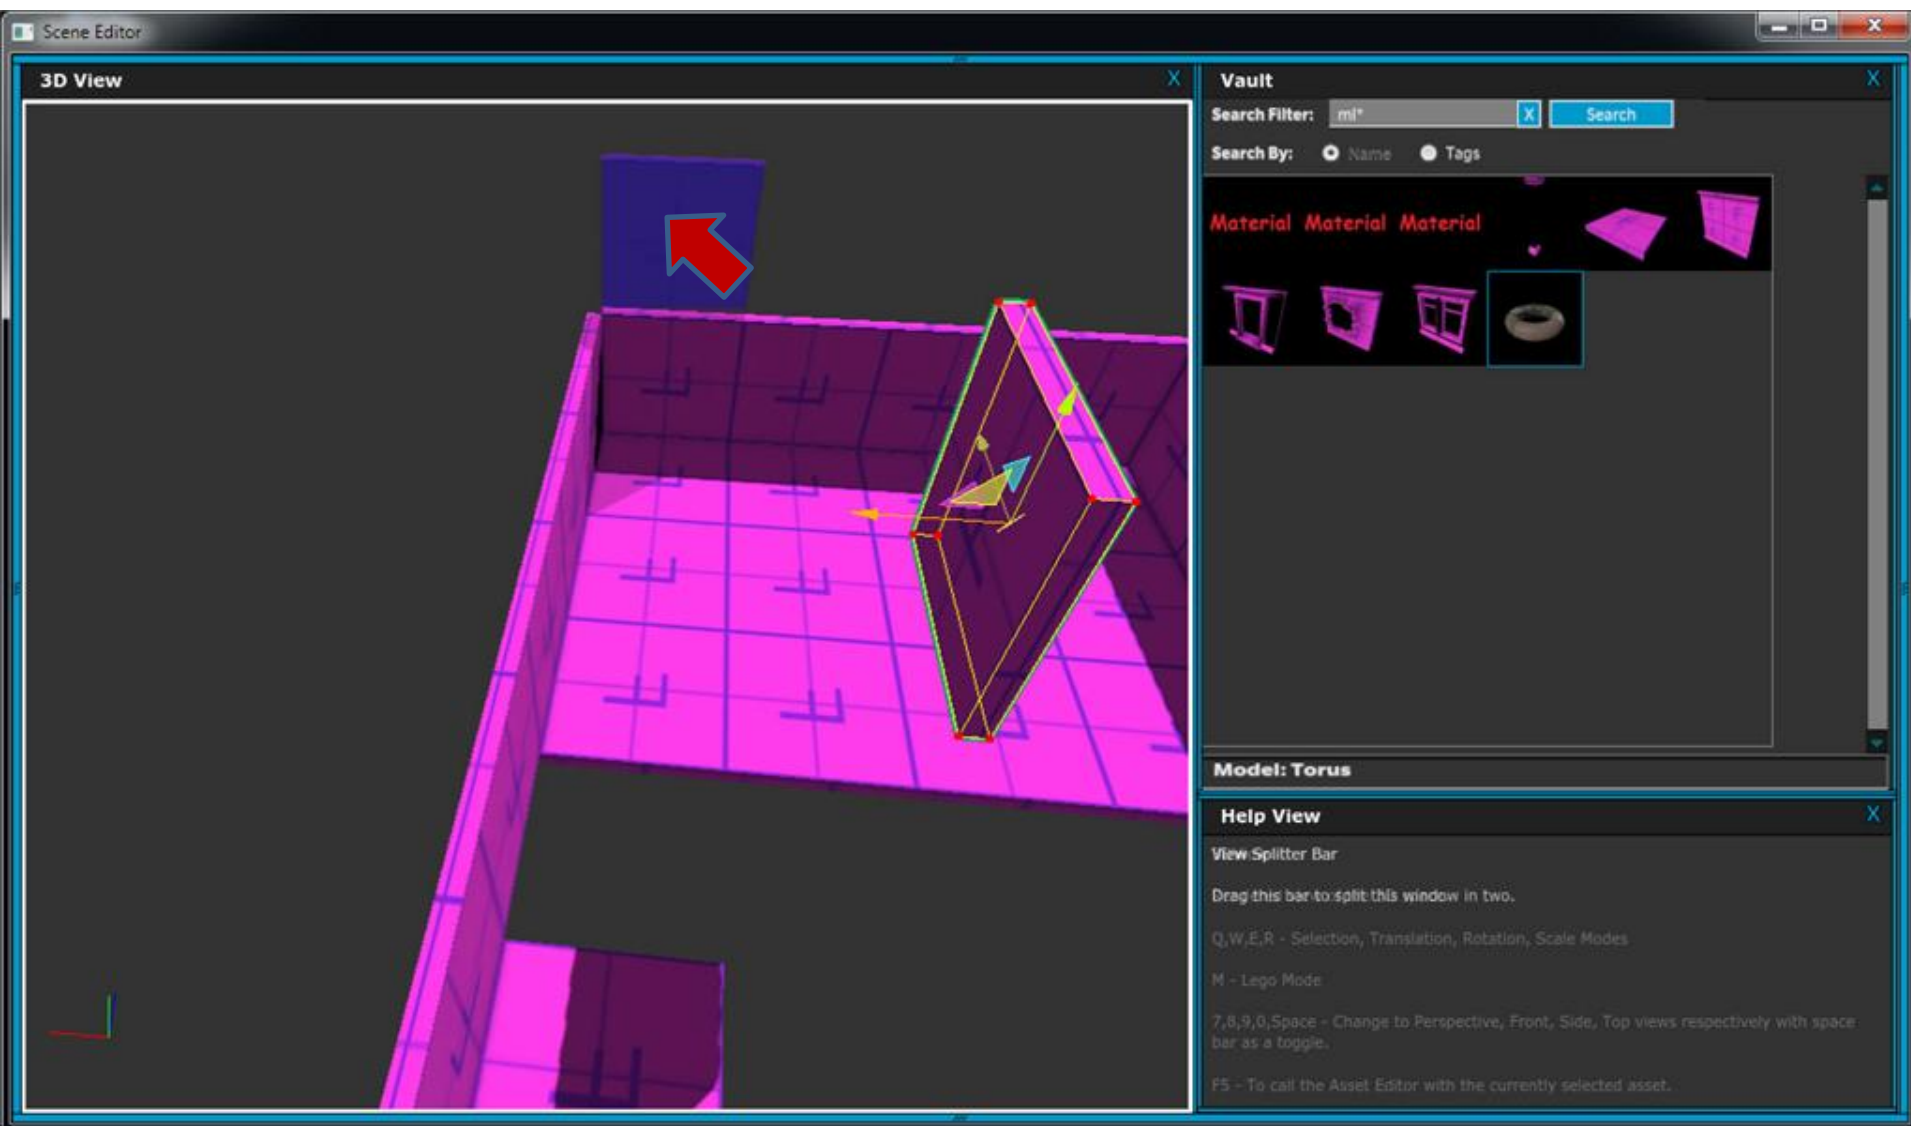

...and, if we have context information on the pieces, then we know how this piece is supposed to fit in for the best/typical case.

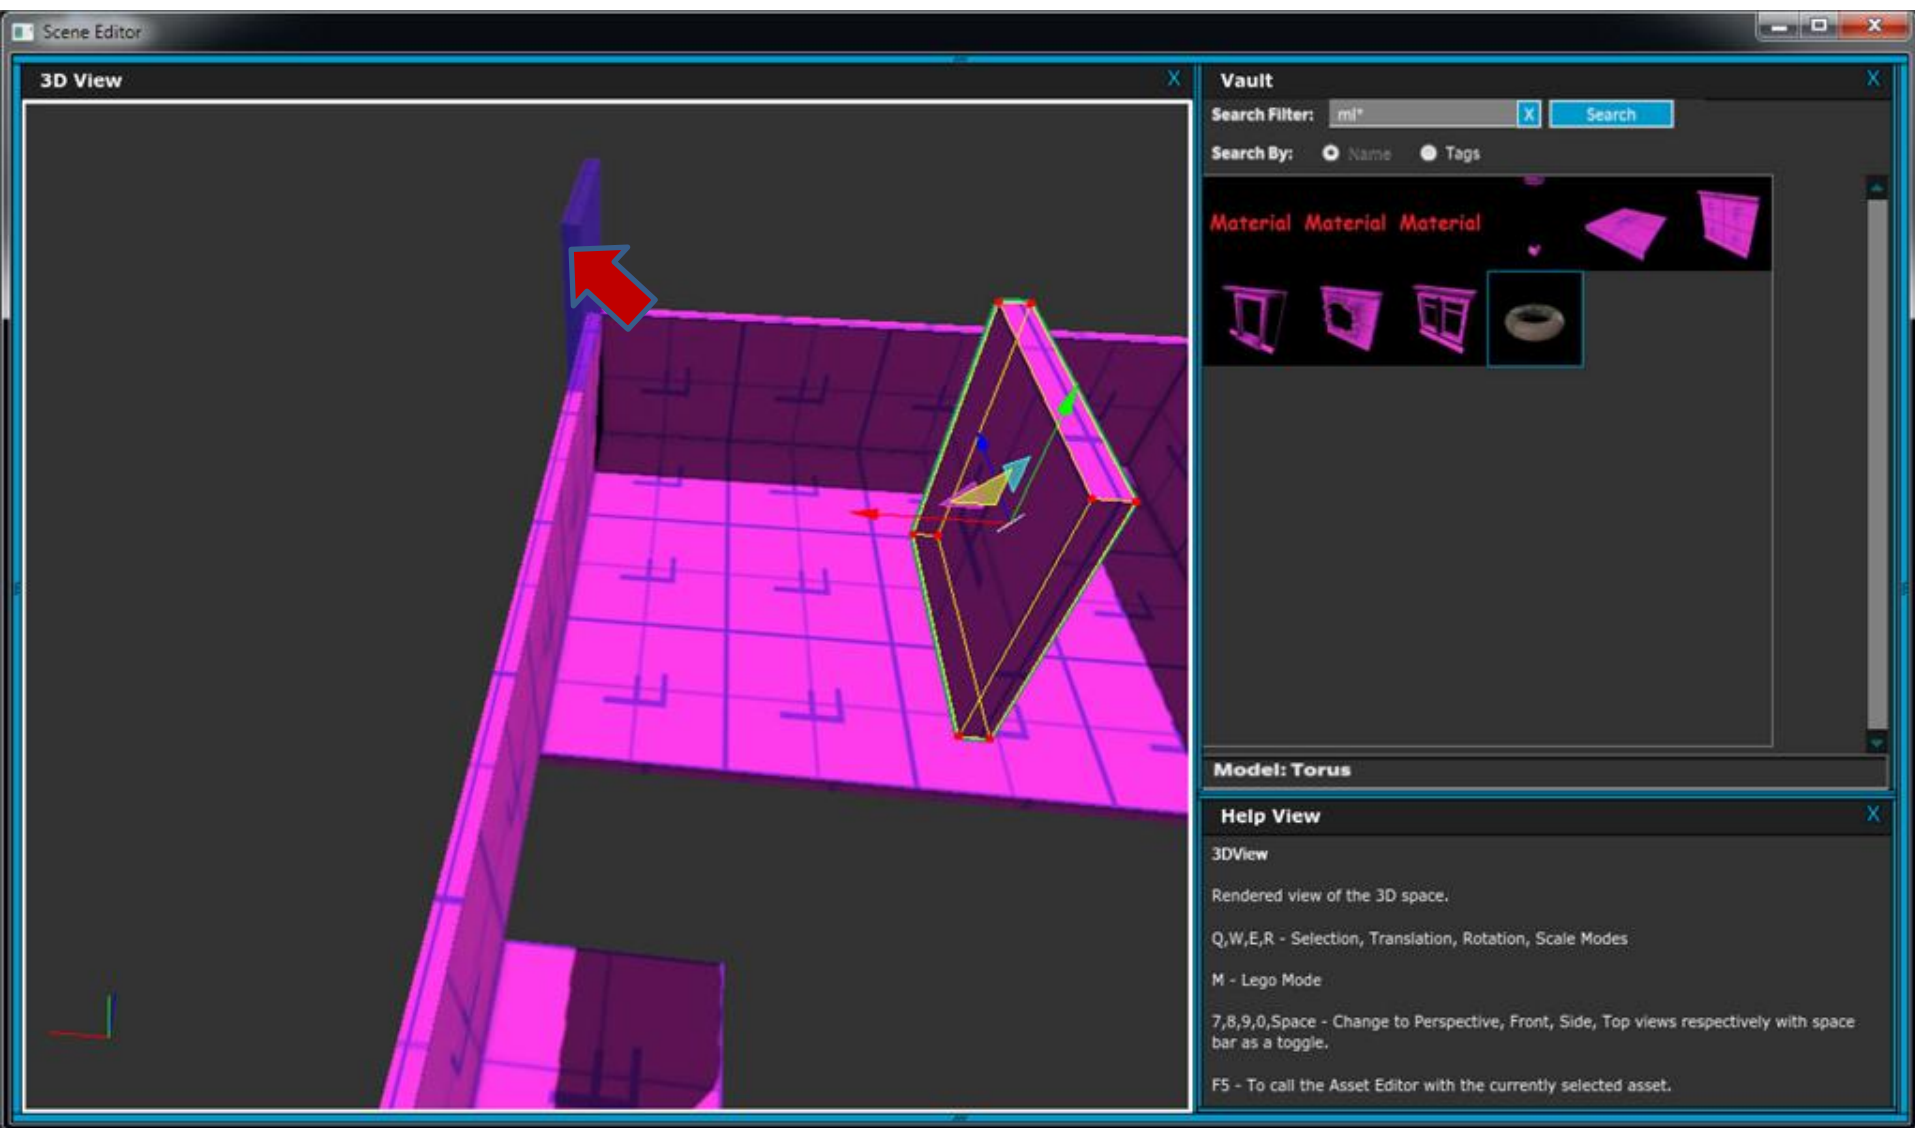

User selects this piece.
Hotkey for "move to best fit"

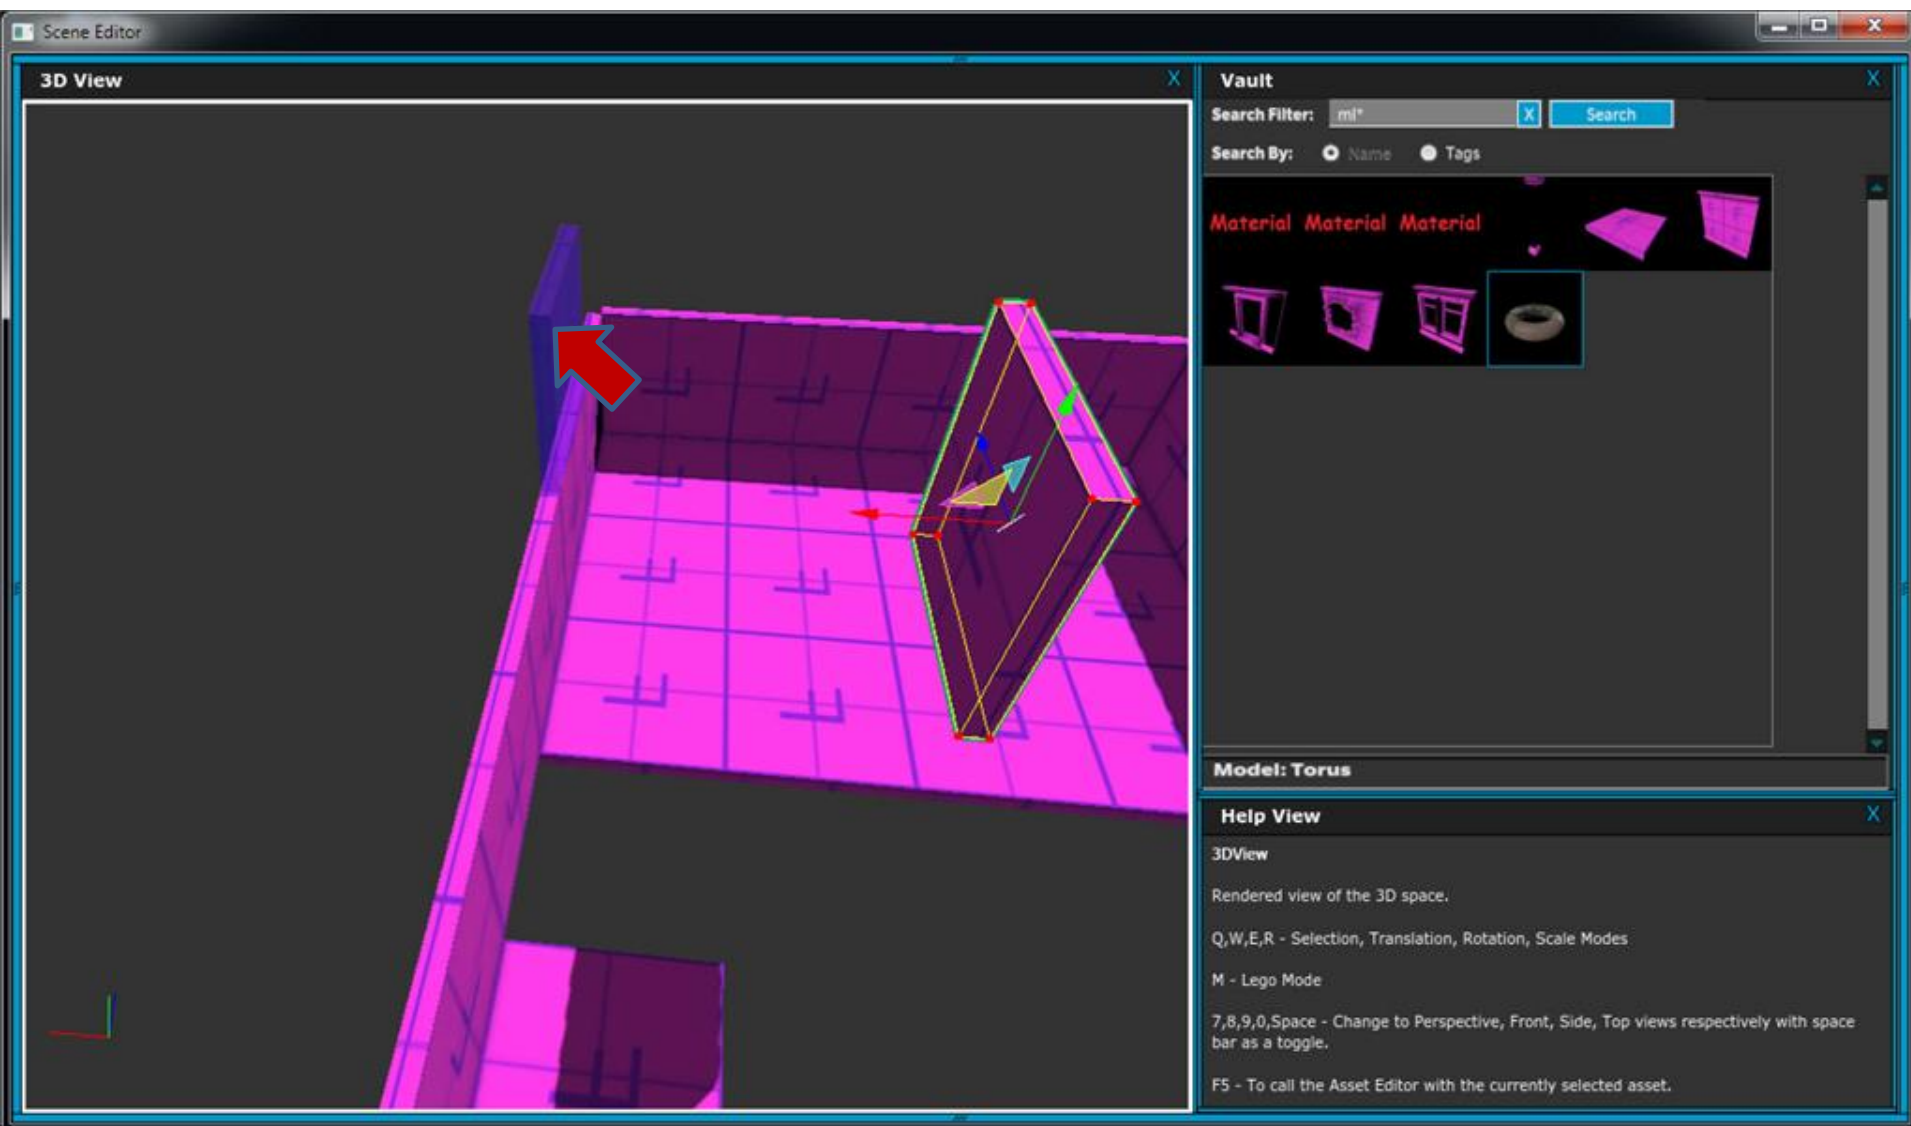

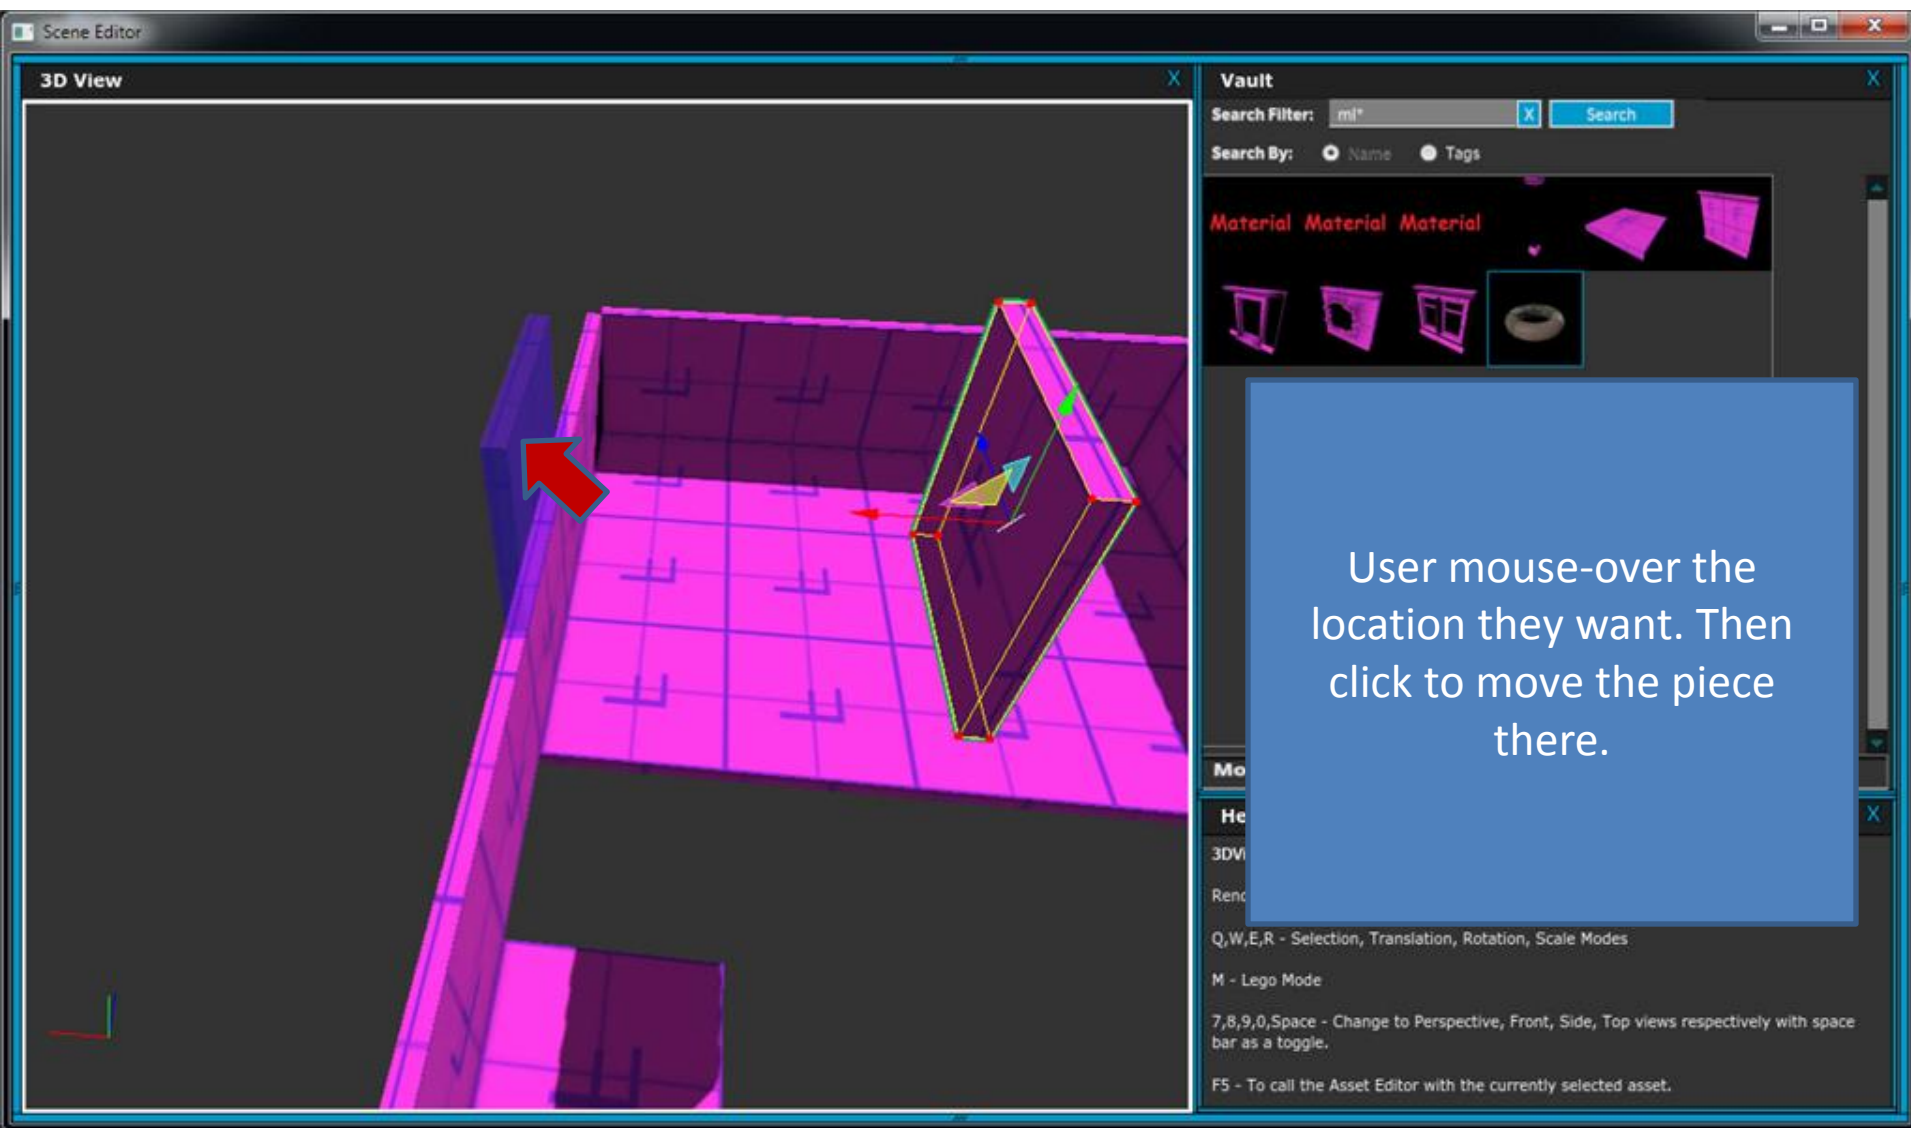

User mouse-over the location they want. Then click to move the piece there.

